The vice-chancellor of St Xavier's University, Father Felix Raj (left), receives the JHEASA Magis Award, which is a recognition of lifetime contribution in spreading higher education, from Father Joseph Christie, secretary, Jesuit Higher Education, Rome, Italy, during the annual conference of the Jesuit Higher Education Association, South Asia, (Jheasa) at St Xavier's College on Saturday. Father Felix Raj had started as a professor of economics at St Xavier's College more than 50 years ago. "An award is a public appreciation, recognition of past achievement one has made and it also includes the future task that you give to the person. Yes, I have a long way to go," said Father Felix Raj after receiving the award. Picture by Sanat Kr Sinha
